COMMITTEE MET TODAY

REPUBLICANS OF THE SEVENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT AT THE COURT HOUSE.

MR. H. W. MEUSCHKE IS CHAIRMAN

H. D. Dow Elected Secretary, A. B. Cloud Treasurer, and a Neat Compliment Paid to Major Peter H. Sangree.

The republican congressional committee of the Seventh district, comprising Benton, Greene, Hickory, Lafayette, Howard, Pettis, Polk and Saline counties, met at the circuit court room at the court house this morning.

Maj. P. H. Sangree, of Sedalia, called the meeting to order and J. M. Dunnegan, of Polk county, was elected temporary secretary.

H. W. Meuschke was elected permanent chairman and H. D. Dow permanent secretary. Each election was made by acclamation. A. B. Cloud, of Howard county, was elected treasurer by acclamation.

J. H. Bothwell, of Sedalia, and T. C. Owen, of Benton county, were elected delegates to the state meeting to be held in Jefferson City in September.

The following resolution was adopted, in recognition of Mr. Sangree's faithful services as chairman of the committee for more than twenty-five years:

"We, the members of the republican congressional committee of the Seventh congressional district of Missouri, in convention assembled, acknowledging the ability, activity and faithfulness of our retiring chairman, Hon. P. H. Sangree, of Sedalia, Mo., who has for the past twenty-five years so ably conducted the congressional campaigns in this district, do hereby indorse his record of the past and recommend that he be made an honorary member and honorary chairman of this committee."

Maj. Sangree responded briefly and appropriately, after which Mr. Meuschke moved that the committee adjourn, to meet at the call of the chairman.

Greene and Hickory county were not represented, delegates from the other counties being as follows: Benton, P. G. Boehmer; Howard, A. B. Cloud; Lafayette, John Taubman; Pettis, H. W. Meuschke; Polk, J. M. Dunnegan; Saline, S. P. Houston.

WED AT SWEET SPRINGS

Despite the Objection of the Mother of the Bride.

L. Van Buskirk, a farmer of Sweet Springs, and Miss Maggie Blakely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blakely, of the same place, were married by Judge Ellis at Sweet Springs at 8 o'clock last night and came to Sedalia to spend the night, returning home this afternoon.

The mother of the bride objected to the marriage, and the couple eloped from their homes and had the ceremony performed before they gave any intimation of the step contemplated.

The Will of the Late Iowa Senator Filed in Dubuque.

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 11.—Senator William B. Allison died a comparatively poor man. His will, filed for probate yesterday, bequeathed a fortune of only $75.00 to $100,000.

He leaves an annuity of $1,200 to Mrs. Jennie A. Brayton, who has been his housekeeper and an annuity of $750 to Mrs. Cornelia Allison, widow of his brother, James. Three nieces are given $1,500 each. Four nephews are each given $1,000. The Carnegie library, Finley hospital and Y. M. C. A. each receive $1,000.

MISS MALONEY NOT TO WED

Father of the Philadelphia Heiress Denies a Report.

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—Martin Maloney denied yesterday that his daughter, Miss Helen Maloney, will be married to Samuel B. Clarkson, with whom she is said to have eloped.

A dispatch from New York to the effect that the heiress was to marry the English clubman within two weeks was shown to Mr. Maloney.

"It's not true, it's not true," he said. "There's nothing to it. They are not to be married. I don't know anything about it."

Is it true that you will ask for the hand of Miss Maloney's marriage to Arthur Herbert Osborn, of New York, so that your daughter can wed Mr. Clarkson?" Mr. Maloney was asked.

"It's not true, it's not true," he repeated.

Telephone Pole on Fire.

A live wire of the Sedalia Light and Traction company set fire to one of the Queen City Telephone company's poles at Main street and Lamine avenue at 11 o'clock this morning, burning the pole in two parts. The fire company extinguished the blaze.

ADMITS KILLING FATHER

OFFICERS SAY THE LUPUS, MO., BOY HAS CONFESSED THE CRIME.

TRULY COLD BLOODED, THIS WAS

When the Parent Ordered Him to Leave Home the Young Man Procured Rifle and Fired—Back to the Picnic Then.

California, Mo., Aug. 11.—Robert Kenney, 19 years old, has confessed that he murdered his father, Coleman B. Kenney, near Lupus, July 20, according to the statement of Jesse Hornbeck, the sheriff who arrested him, and Roy Kay, the prosecuting attorney. Hornbeck says that the boy made this statement to him:

"I quarreled with my father over a mare and a colt. He refused to give me the mare and ordered me to leave the house and never come back again. I went upstairs to my room where I kept my trunk. I saw my rifle on the rack. I took it and went down stairs where I found my father sitting in a chair. One side of his face was turned toward me. I raised my rifle and fired. When I went to him he was dead. He never spoke after I fired."

Robert Kenney was arrested last Saturday. He was not charged with the murder, but was held on a charge of passing worthless coins.

Robert Kenney, his brother Peter and sister Ollie went to the Jamestown Woodman picnic the morning their father was slain. When they returned at night they found their father dead with a bullet hole through his head. A coroner's inquest was held, but nothing was learned. The son was suspected, but a charge of murder was not referred against him. Besides the rewards offered here the governor offered a reward of $300 for the arrest of the slayer.

Robert Kenney left the picnic grounds soon after arriving there, and went to a Jamestown livery stable. He hired a team for a few hours and was seen going towards home. One of the neighbors heard a shot fired and saw a team soon after the shot. Kenney also purchased a box of cartridges.

THREE DEAD IN FLAMES

Escaping Gas Causes a Fire That Had Fatal Results.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 11.—Escaping gas in a building in this city occupied by Mrs. J. S. Gavin as a millinery store and residence caused a fire this morning which resulted in the death of three persons and the possible fatal injuring of one other.

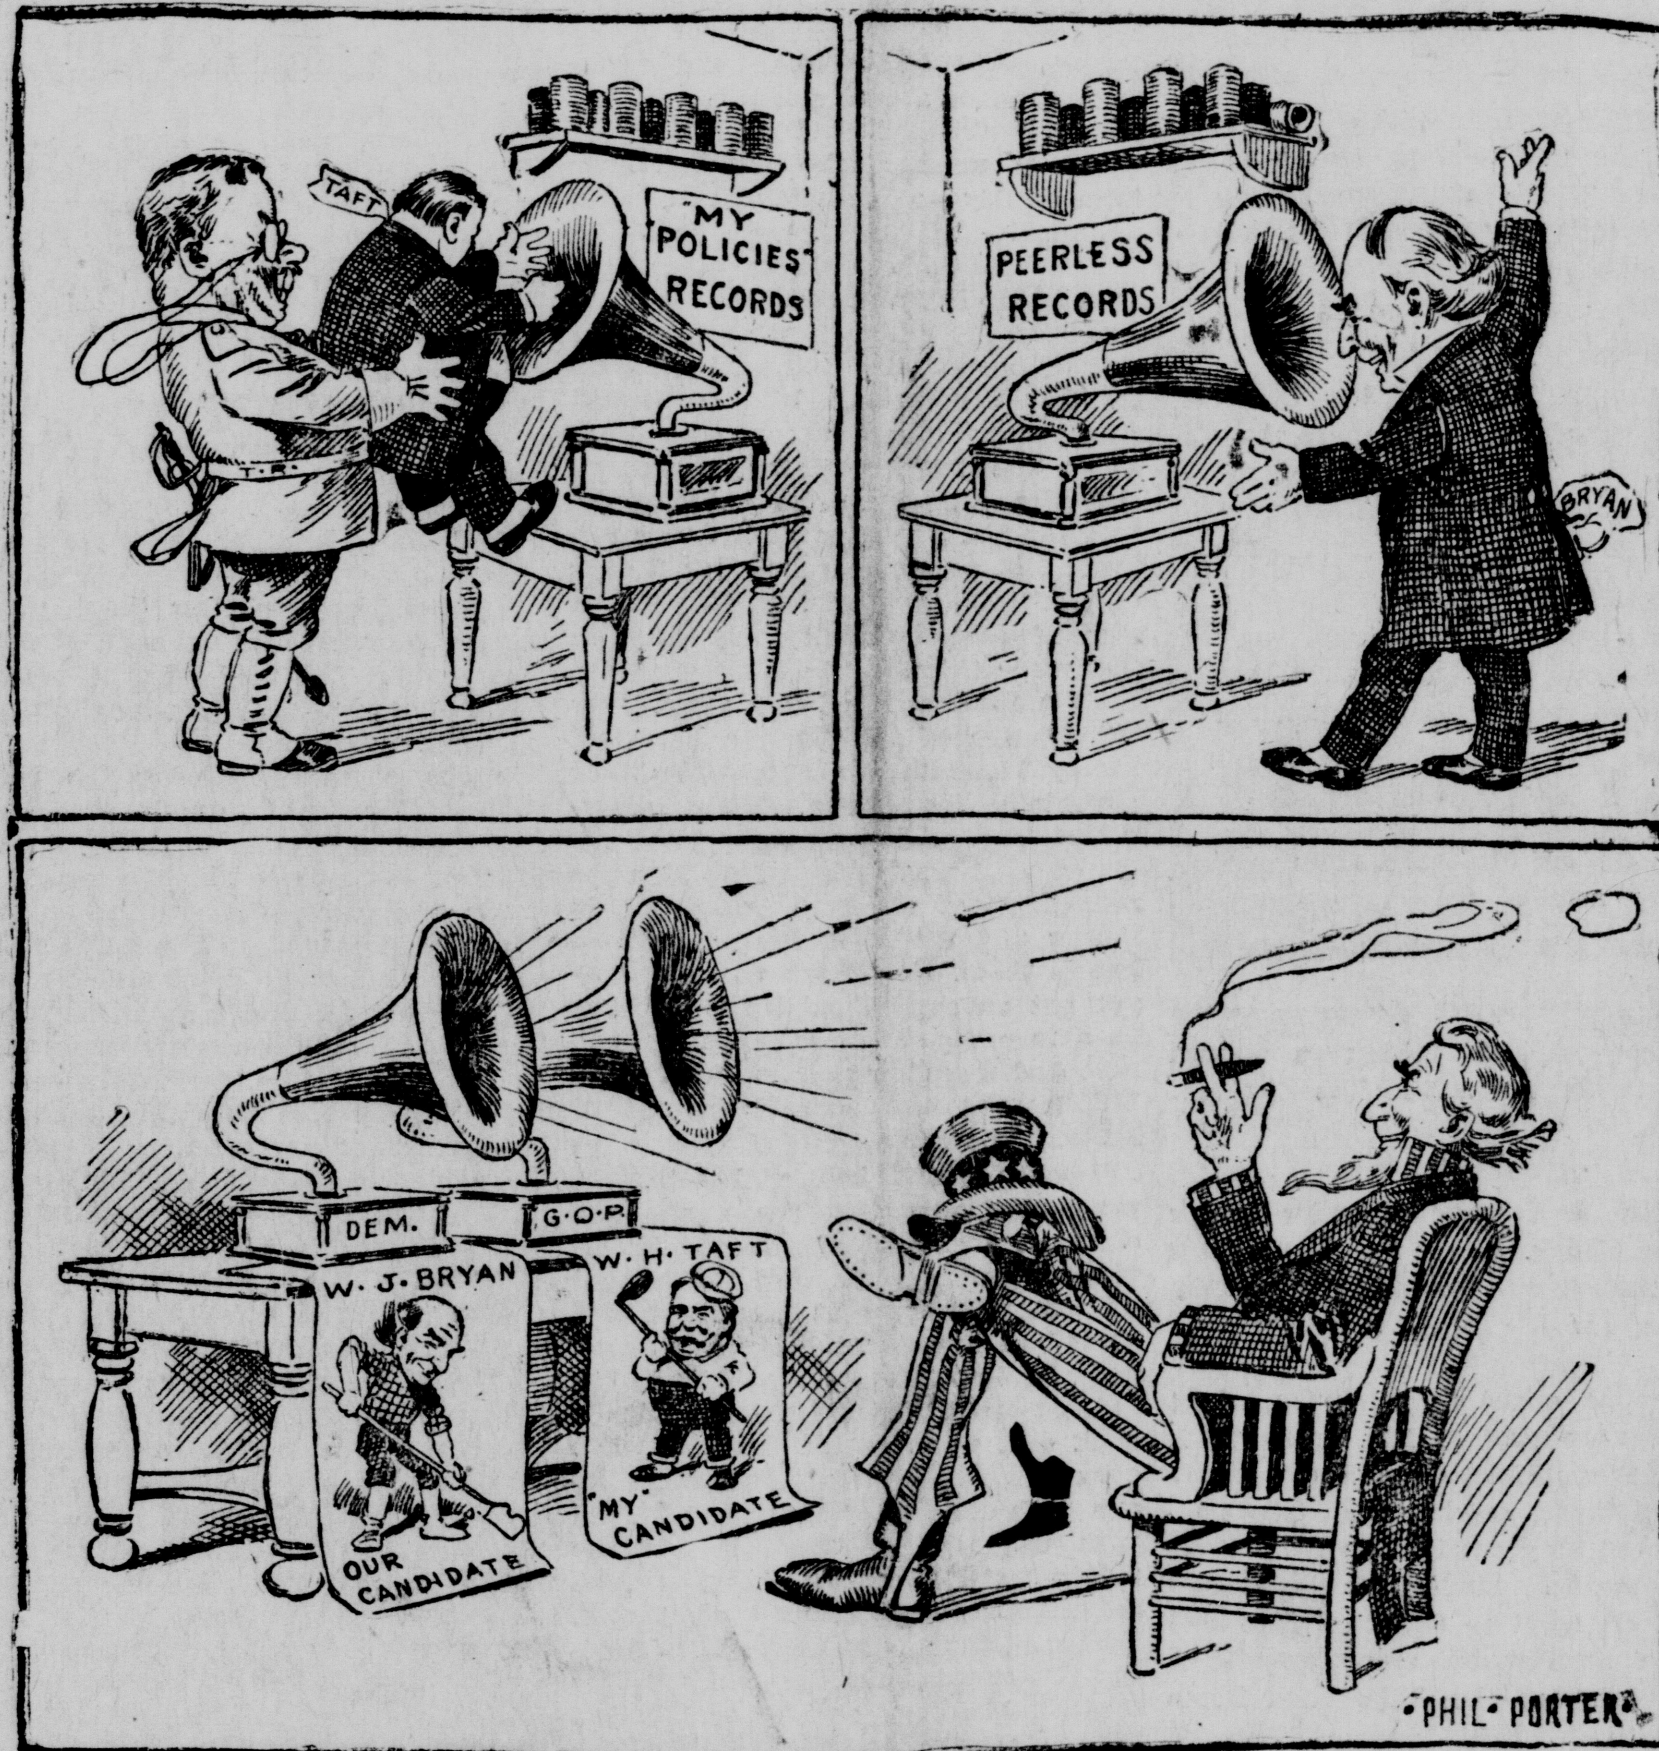

Six people were compelled to jump from windows to save their lives. The dead are: Clara Gavin, aged 27 years; Maine Gavin, aged 29; Margaret Gavin, aged 21. Mrs. J. S. Gavin was injured so badly that she may die.

TORNADO IN NORTH DAKOTA

Two Hotels Were Unroofed and One House Blown Down.

Handan, N. D., Aug. 11.—A tornado struck Handan last evening, causing $50,000 damage. The roof of the Interocean hotel crashed into the dining room and the Delmar hotel was unroofed. One house toppled over, and many windows were shattered, but there were no fatalities.

"IS FALSE," SAID PASTOR

A KENTUCKY DIVINE DENIES HAVING TRIFLED WITH A FEMALE.

TALKED STRAIGHT FROM PULPIT

Lexington, Kentucky, Gossips Have Made Life a Nightmare for Him—He Demands a Full Inquiry at Once.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 11.—From the pulpit in Calvary Baptist church at Sunday morning's service, Rev. Walter P. Hines put the climax to a sensation by branding as "unqualifiedly false" rumors linking his name with that of an unmarried young woman member of his congregation.

Something like a fortnight ago Rev. Hines appealed to local detectives for aid in ferreting out the authors of anonymous letters and the senders of picture post cards, all having a bearing upon the rumors concerning his alleged relations with this young woman.

In talking from the pulpit this morning, Mr. Hines began with the statement that he had become almost a physical and nervous wreck from the strain to which he had been subjected on account of the rumors that had been circulated about him, but that he proposed to give to his hearers a brief history of his life, so that they might judge for themselves whether or not he could be guilty of the charges made against him. In a voice broken with emotion he said:

"Certain rumors of a damaging character, circulated about me in this city, have assumed such proportions as to demand my attention. These rumors have been so shocking to me that I have been at a loss to know precisely what course to pursue. In referring to these rumors and in making my statement today, I am acting not only upon my own conviction of what is proper, but upon the advice of friends in whose judgment I have full confidence. I now wish to state, I trust, with malice toward none, and yet with all the emphasis I can command, that these rumors are groundless and unequivocally false.

"Since I became the pastor of this church I am not conscious of having committed any act or deed inconsistent with the relation I sustain in this church. I further state that I have done nothing but what I believe to be for the good of my fellowmen and the cause of Christ.

"My character is what I am. My reputation is what people say of me. I cannot control the tongues of people who have a low estimate of character, and are disposed to injure their fellowmen; but I can and I shall do all in my power to vindicate myself and to make plain the great wrong that has been done me and others.

"I shall first invoke the investigation of the truth of these rumors in the accepted method provided by the great church of which I am a member. If this method be rejected, after conference with the constituted authorities, or regarded as inadequate for the better ascertainment of truth, I shall appeal for such other methods for investigation which may more certainly establish the truth."

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC

IS "STANDING PAT" IN REGARD TO THE EMPLOYEES NOW ON STRIKE.

GOVERNMENT IS TAKING NO PART

Shopmen Look to Vice President Whyte for Wage Settlement—No Strike Breakers From the United States.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 11.—The Canadian Pacific railway has built a second high fence around the shops. General Manager Bury wired to Montreal to have a thousand mechanics forwarded at once if possible.

It was stated that the men employed in the Canadian Pacific stores will walk out today in sympathy with the present strikers. The men are all said to object to issuing stores to strike breakers. The company has imported twenty-four Thiel and Pinkerton detectives to watch the movements of the strikers in the west.

William Whyte, second vice president, left Vancouver last night for Winnipeg. The men look to him to effect a settlement. Mr. Whyte issued a statement yesterday, denying the report that the Canadian Pacific was importing strike breakers from the United States to replace the skilled and unskilled men.

Reports from points west indicate that the rolling stock is beginning to feel the strain of the strike.

It is pointed out by the labor department that a sympathetic strike by other railway men's unions to aid the striking mechanics, as has been suggested, would be a violation of the Lemieux law, which says no strike may occur in connection with a public utility prior to the holding of an inquiry by a board of conciliation and an investigation.

ASKED THE CURSE OF GOD

FATHER PETER J. O'CALLAHAN CALLED IT DOWN UPON ATTORNEY HEALY.

LATTER BEATEN FOR RE-ELECTION

Accused of Injustice in the Billik Murder Case in Chicago—What the Priest Had to Say From the Pulpit.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 11.—Fr. Peter J. O'Callahan, who has stirred all of Chicago in his efforts to save the neck of Herman Billik, condemned poisoner of the seven members of the Vrzal family, called down the curse of God on the head of State's Attorney Healy in his sermon at St. Mary's church Sunday. He also expressed the hope that the same divine curse would rest upon Healy's children.

State's Attorney Healy was defeated in his candidacy for renomination at the primaries Saturday, and the priest who had canvassed the city against him, making speeches, bristling with invective, declared Sunday that the attorney's defeat was the judgment of God against him for his part in the prosecution of Billik. He added:

"I would explain to you why I said that I felt that if the people of the city did not condemn John Healy that the curse of God would rest upon him and upon his children. I said before that he, like Pontius Pilate, would think to soothe his conscience by washing his hands in a basin of water. The next day the papers came out and said that Healy was anxious to assist in the discovery of the truth, and was going to co-operate with the authorities of Du Page county in sifting the evidence thoroughly and honestly.

"The next day we find that this man, this honest investigator, sends out an assistant who does nothing but belittles the evidence, turning that which should be a serious investigation into a farce.

"That night he came out with the affidavit of an irresponsible man, doing his best to thwart the purpose of the investigation. This was a providential exhibition of his dishonesty and hypocrisy, making manifest the incincerity of his promises to investigate and to that old judgment for comparing John Healy with him.

"It was to that cry of the multitude that I referred, and to that old prophecy and to that old judgment that God uttered in the Old Testament that the sins of a man will be visited upon his children to the third and fourth generation.

Only with repentance and only by some marvelous interference of God's grace can any child escape the sins of his father. It is God's holy word that is condemned and God's judgment of men's sins rather than my utterances of what I firmly believe to be a holy law of a just God."

ENGAGED IN MAD ORGIES

THIS IS THE CHARGE AGAINST "DEVIL CHASING" SECT IN BROOKLYN.

INDECENT ACTS ARE LAID TO THEM

Alleged to Be Carried Out Under the Guise of Religion, But the Accused Strongly Assert Innocence.

New York, Aug. 11.—Charged with engaging in mad orgies, in which it is alleged that they wore too little clothing, the members of a "devil chasing" sect in Brooklyn will appear in court tomorrow.

The defendants, who are alleged to have performed their indecent rites under the guise of religion, strenuously assert their innocence of any wrong doing.

It was a ceremony known among the sect, according to police information, as "drawing the dragon," or "chasing the devil," that caused four of the prisoners to be held in $500 bail. They were Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, Miss Isabella Clarke, H. P. Dunham and Daniel Wecker, all of whom were charged with "outraging public decency."

Because the police alleged she is the acting head of the sect, or church, Mrs. Robinson was also held on a charge of "keeping and maintaining a place for indecent purposes." She was arraigned on the separate charge.

Mrs. Robinson denied excitedly that women disrobed in order to carry out their religious exercises. She said that the "sisters" prayed in a room on the upper floor of the chapel, while the "brethren" prayed downstairs.

Mrs. Robinson entertained forty young friends at her home, 901 East Broadway, last night, in honor of Misses Nellie and Ruth Buchanan, of Lawrence, Kan., daughter of the late Rev. A. C. Buchanan, formerly pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist church, who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman.

Musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, and various games whittled away the time, and at a late hour the guests returned home, having spent a delightful evening.

Punch was served during the affair, and later refreshments of grape ice and cake were served.

PASS THE CHICKEN, PLEASE

Ritchie Tent to Give Fry on Flat Creek Tonight.

Ritchie tent No. 152, K. O. T. M., will give their chicken fry at Thatcher's ford, on Flat creek, tonight. Wagons will leave the court house square not later than 6:45 o'clock.

One wagon will leave Third and Engineer thirty minutes earlier, after collecting the guests at Fifth and Engineer, will proceed to the court house, from which place all conveyances will start.

An abundant supply of chicken has been prepared for the affair, and indications point to a record breaking crowd attending.

Called Away by Son's Illness. Mrs. F. H. Glover, of 1902 East Fifth street, departed this afternoon for Denver, Colo., called by the illness of her son, W. H. Glover.

GOVERNOR GLENN IS 54

HE'S THE BIG, HUSKY CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

IT IS KNOWN AS TARHEEL STATE

Was 7 Years Old When Civil War Broke Out—Father Was Killed Fighting for the South—Chopped Wood When a Boy.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 11.—"Bob" Glenn, the big, husky chief executive of the Tarheel state, is today recipient of congratulations upon having reached the 54th milestone of his career. Not for a generation has a North Carolina governor attained to such a degree of national fame as "Bob" Glenn, and when he passes out of the executive mansion he will leave behind him a record of achievement equalled by few southern governors in recent years.

Glenn first became a national figure by reason of the vigor and determination he displayed in defending the right of the state to regulate the railroads within its borders. Arriving himself squarely against the federal courts, he entered upon a struggle which for a time threatened to assume grave proportions.

It was due chiefly to the persistence and energy of Governor Glenn that North Carolina was voted "dry" and will on the first of next year enter the ranks of the prohibition states. Believing fervidly in the prohibition cause, Governor Glenn entered heart and soul into the fight against the "rum demon" and succeeded in bringing a majority of the voters of the state to his way of thinking. Prior to the prohibition election he stumped the state thoroughly, speaking in nearly every city and town and his eloquence doubtless had much to do with the decision of the people as registered at the polls.

Governor Glenn was born and raised a Tarheel and is a native of Rockingham. He was educated first in the high school at Leakesville, and then went to Davidson college for three years. For two years he was at the University of Virginia. But he emphasizes the fact that it was because at that time there was no advanced college in his own state. He studied law under Chief Justice Pearson during 1875 and 1876, and was licensed to practice in 1877. At Rockley and in Stokes county he spent several years at the bar. In 1881 he went to the legislature and four years later was made district solicitor in the Ninth judicial district. He was a Cleveland elector in 1884 and 1892, and substituted as a Cleveland elector in 1888, the regular elector having been kept from acting by an accident. In 1883 he was appointed United States district attorney by President Cleveland and served for five years. In 1889 he was a state senator, and was a member of the senate committee that framed the North Carolina constitutional amendment.

In 1904 he was elected governor. Glenn was seven years old when the Civil war broke out. His father, fighting for the Confederacy, was killed in battle, and the sons and their mother went to live with the youngsters' great-uncle, who also had raised their father. But for this uncle's assistance the Glens would undoubtedly have had a pretty hard time of it. As it was, they had no spare cash, and the uncle being continually in debt, and on his death left to the boys a big bunch of promissory notes as well as his farm. It was this farm that the mother mortgaged in order to give "Bob" a college education. But before he went to college the future governor and his brother took turns going to school and running the farm. It was while he was a farm lad that the governor built up his giant like physique. He has said he owes his good health to the fact that he got so much exercise chopping wood when a boy.

NOTICE TO MAIL SUBSCRIBERS.

Subscribers to the Daily Democrat-Sentinel who receive their paper by mail should remember that a recent ruling of the post-office department makes it obligatory on the part of the paper to discontinue sending copies to those who are three months in arrears on their subscription.

This ruling is being followed strictly by the Democrat-Sentinel and those of its subscribers who fail to get the paper will understand why it does not come.

They should not blame the management, because it has no option in the matter, but should at once take steps to pay what is past due, together with at least three months in advance, and get the paper started again.

PARTY PROSPECTS.

The question that is harrowing the souls of the politicians is, how many votes can the Hearst party draw from the democrats in the doubtful states, and how many republican votes will the prohibition ticket get in the same states?

It was quite a debatable question and will take the result of the election to answer correctly. In well organized states, where both parties take a careful poll of the voters the managers will be able to arrive at an approximate solution. But such polling of the voters of each precinct is less done by competent men, who know the voters, is practically worthless, and to do it well costs a great deal of money. It has been found by experience that volunteer work is very unsatisfactory, for while some volunteers do the work well, most men do it in a careless and slipshod manner. It is easy enough to get the outspoken democrats and republicans and prohibitionists and socialists checked off on the poll list correctly, but to find out how the independent voter stands requires diplomacy and considerable assiduity. The secret of the success of Samuel J. Tilden was his ability for organization and his willingness to spend a large part of his fortune to create it. He knew just how every state stood and what voters it was necessary to reach in the doubtful states and how to reach them. He employed able men to do the work and the result shows that his political prescience, founded on the facts they obtained for him, were accurate.

That he was counted out does not show that he was mistaken, for who would have believed that the republican returning boards of Louisiana and Florida would be backed by bayonets to defeat the ballots of the sovereign people?

Our present leaders have been selected as possessing the wisdom and the ability to cope with present conditions, so let us give them every assistance to grapple with the republican rascalities, that will far exceed because they will be more universal, what the negro hirelings and carpet baggers of the Tilden era accomplished.

It takes money to organize, and the leaders of today have not a Tilden barrel to draw from. The expense of a thorough organization and poll of the voters of the doubtful states is a perfectly legitimate use of money and the voters themselves and their descendants, who have seen the republican party enjoy the victories that should have been theirs since Tilden's time, must themselves furnish the means to enjoy the estate they were defrauded of.

Therefore, the primary duty of the democrats is to contribute what they can afford to the campaign funds. The real work of the campaign can not move without money, so do not delay in sending your contribution, large or small, to Governor C. N. Haskell, treasurer national democratic committee, Auditorium annex, Chicago, Ill.

Congressman Lloyd, the chairman of the democratic congressional committee, is quite confident that the democrats will elect a majority of the next congress. To do this twenty-nine or more districts now represented by republicans, must elect the democratic candidate, and Mr. Lloyd confidently expects to make these gains in the central and western states. Mr. Lloyd says:

"We will make gains in the house of representatives from Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and California. We will carry Montana. There will be gains of probably four in Ohio, where some of the districts are in fearfully bad shape for the republicans, and are rapidly getting no better. Iowa has four districts, in which we have an even chance or better to win. There are four in Kansas that we expect to gain and three in California, from which state the reports we receive are simply startling, indicating the turn toward democracy on the oriental issue."

NEBRASKA AND INDIANA.

Nebraska and Indiana are linked on the democratic ticket, and as in 1900, the west and middle states furnish the standard bearers for the party.

In 1900, 6,358,000 citizens voted for Bryan and Stevenson. At that time the democratic party was somewhat torn by internal dissensions, while the republican organization was at the flood of its prosperity. The con- cision can not by any stretch of the imagination be blamed upon the democrats, and the rank and file of republicans are rebellant at the manner in which the Roosevelt succession was thrust upon them. As for the democrats, they are as united and eager as they were in 1892, when they swept the country by a popular plurality of 400,000 votes.

With Bryan and Kern as the nominal candidates, the democracy enters the campaign with clean hands and a confident heart.

The advertising manager of a company the name of whose product is a household word in all parts of the country, and who therefore, speaks with authority, says: "Continuous advertising in consecutive issues of carefully selected mediums is the only kind of advertising that makes an impression." This is likewise the opinion of Sedalia's most successful merchants. They keep everlastingly at it through the advertising columns of the daily papers. The Democrat-Sentinel carries their business announcements day in and day out, year after year, in greater volume than any of its contemporaries.

There are a lot of underground wires at work these days, besides those of the telegraph and telephone companies, and their service is remarkably good in securing results. To work well wires of the political variety must be hidden, as they hiss and spit too much if left exposed.

Taft has Bryan skinned on avoirdupois, but some of his acts as well as his weight will prove a great handicap in the presidential race. The injunction hurdles are higher than the monetary hurdles this year.

President Roosevelt says he will not buy an automobile while there are horses. The impossibility of be-

Someone ought to go on guard at Fairview to protect Mr. Bryan from the near politicians who constantly bob up there, getting themselves interviewed as great leaders from their home states. Such interviews may sound all right to the candidate and to the newspaper men who get them, but for the folks back home it is to laugh."

A PRAYER TO ALTA

The following verses, entitled, "A Prayer to Alta," were written by R. P. Woodward, author and poet of Kansas City to his wife in their courtship days. The wife, after but a few months of wedded happiness, was buried yesterday.

Were I to hear one voice, one single word,

From all the million utterings of life,
Sweeter by far than song of any bird
Would be your spoken "love," dear promised wife.

Were I to see just once—one moment's sight—
Then know my vision blinded for all time.

I'd gaze at your bright eyes, whose heavenly light
Would feed life's darkness with a cheer sublime.

Were I to sip one kiss in all my days—

But once ere death to mortal lips mine press
I would give praise to God, ay, darling praise!
And drink your breath, in fervent thankfulness.

Were I to live one hour, doomed to die,

To know I must resign all I hold dear,
Open your pillowed breast my cheek would lie,
I glad, though sad, I could not shed one tear.

Were I to learn one prayer I could plead,

That's God's great heart would grant me one rich prize,
Your constancy I'd name my only need

To keep our world an endless paradise.

For if you love me as you say you do,
My love's an armor that no charm can break—
So strong that it will keep me always true.

While fighting, shield my life for your dear sake.

THE LUST FOR GOLD

By EDWIN BLISS

(Copyright.)

Supremest satisfaction reposed on Joe's face as he closed the door of the Milton hotel behind him and meditatively drew a coat sleeve across his mouth.

"Relief wagon!" the old man muttered softly to himself. "Wa-al, I'm dummed!" Relief wagon for Joe Milton, and his withered form was doubled up in gales of silent laughter.

Slowly the old man walked up the crooked street with its ramshackle little frame dwellings leaning toward their counterparts across the way. Down the long, narrow grass-grown street running from the hotel to the foothills not a vestige of life was visible. Not a sound broke the stillness of the little mountain village; not a sign of human activity anywhere in the whole town.

He was a man of not much over 50 who looked 70—albeit a hale and hearty 70, with his snow-white hair gracefully framing a gentle, determined face. All the spirit of the untamed west was in that face plus the refinement of the man who knows things and moreover knows that he knows them. His form was sturdy—yet not so rugged as it should have been to endure the hardships his solitude had forced upon him. For Joseph Milton was the sole inhabitant of Milton, Wyoming.

Twenty years before, he—then a prospector young at the game—had struck a pocket of high free gold. It was a rare fine vein and the farther he went the more it broadened and smiled at him. Not being a western man, he immediately hoisted it to the nearest town and invited his friends back east to share the bonanza. But even telegraph wires forsake the insane dash and dot system when loaded with messages of this sort and the magic word G-O-L-D fairly sizzled from the ticker, so that all might hear. Suffice it, that immediately upon sending the message the Fremont operator forsook his keys and tollsomedly led the procession to Milton. Led the way—for he was followed by a vast concourse from all over the west. How they knew no one can say, but GOLD is written on men's foreheads in that country, and their boot nails spell out the magic word on the very ground they tread. By the time the easterners arrived, Milton—named for its discoverer—was a booming hell-hole of 10,000 souls, working like mad by day and playing like mad at night. Shanties were speedily erected; a hotel was built; stores went up; then came the local newspaper—"The Thunderer"; but all followed the gambling houses and saloons.

That was Milton's big day. It always is in a mining town—the time before the greed fever is satiated. Then an era of prosperity set in. Men talked of building decent dwellings—and never did it. A movement was on foot to have it raised from a fourth-class to a third-rate postoffice—and got no farther than talk; Joe was made postmaster. The editor was killed; Joe took his place—and a right smart sheet did he get out. So on and on through all the endless changes every mining town makes, until his pride in Milton was like a father for his child.

Then came the reaction. The fever, was again. Mines thinned; veins mysteriously disappeared; always a foot from where the toilers stopped, discouraged, did they reappear. Disappointment followed disappointment. Glade, 20 miles east, was booming. The gambling houses were thinning out. Then men began to move to later strikes—leaving good claims behind.

For a long time Joe Milton failed to realize the change—so sudden had the shock been. When he did, there was no brooding; only a mighty yearning to get them back, and a terrible hatred for the town that had called them. He set about his work in a slow, plodding way, getting out The Thunderer once a month now, instead of weekly; swung open the postoffice window just half as often, but fully as religiously; regularly went to the Mining Exchange, and, clanging the big gong over the clerk's desk, solemnly announced the suspension of business for the day; prepared his breakfast at the hotel, and ceremoniously ate it in the big dining room; bought all his goods from the deserted stocks, entered the purchase in the books, and deposited its value in the cash drawer. Never for one moment did he allow himself to regard his old townspeople as other than away on a visit. He had made Milton once; now he would remake it. So with pick and hammer every day the old man prospected.

And then one wonderful day—marvelously like another 20 years ago—he lit on a beautiful bit of rock, and that same day—irony of fate—the relief wagon called on the crazy inhabitant of Milton—for crazy, Joe had been dubbed for years. Frank Peters drove the wagon clear from Glade, and Joe received him, radiantly happy at his assay, on the steps of the hotel. Courteous as ever, he prepared a hospitable dinner for the man who had come to relieve his want; showed him over the old town with childish glee—the Exchange, stores, the latest copy of The Thunderer, with the notice of his latest strike, and gently saw him on his way back to Glade nonplussed.

There was much mirth in Pete's that night as Peters told of his experience—mirth mixed with sadness as they thought of the plight of their erstwhile comrade. Crazy or sane—something in the very word "Gold" in that far western region has a power to send a chill over men's hearts and numb their brains. Gold—gold—gold—gold—they had given their lives to the cabalistic word.

Al Drummond sat at the table where The Thunderer lay, glancing now and then at its tiresome repetitions. Suddenly he became as stone. "Boys!" he huskily called. A few men glanced from the bar in his direction, then turned away. Eagerly he traced some words out with his finger, then jumping from his seat, waved the paper aloft. Drummond seemed choking with excitement. His mouth opened and shut in a most alarming manner. Finally he fairly burst forth: "Look at ole Doc Bartle!"

He threw the paper in their midst and lo!

Do you suffer from rheumatism? Do not be discouraged because

Joe Milton assayed his strike of last Monday in Lone Gulch at 89 a ton.

Dr. Bartle will cure you.

Twice they read. A moment they looked at each other in dismay and chagrin.

Pellmell, helter-skelter they made for the door. No interchange of courtesies now. The gold thirst was upon them all and they fairly fought their way out.

Cross country, ignoring the road, dashed the mad cavalcade—cross country—short cuts, anything to be first, on—on—on—while the sweat of horse and man blended in an indescribable steam. At last the town was in sight. The ponies were flecked with bloody foam and still they plied the quirt. Men dismounted and ran—ran like sprinters, notwithstanding their clumsy boots, up the grass-covered street of the town.

An old man stood in his shirt sleeves before the postoffice—the only placid figure in the world that day. Steadfastly he watched the crazy mob dashing up the street, some afoot, some horseback. They caught sight of him and a roar of joy went up to the heavens. An odd smile curved the corners of his mouth as he slowly withdrew within the building and double barred the doors. The first man sprang forward and threw his weight against them, but not an iota of give was in their solid portals. Old Joe was not in sight, but peacefully sorting over the mail within the inclosure, just as he had sorted that same mail for five years. The whole mad mob was outside. Again and again they tested the door. It would not give. Boom! Crash, and it flew off its hinges under the mighty impact of their concerted weight. A mad surge forward and then—the mob halted under the muzzles of two nasty-looking revolvers. Like a bit of steel came the old man's tones, every word distinct as the crack of a whip.

"Consarn ye, what'd ye bust my door fer? This yer postoffice ain't never opened till three o'clock an' it ain't 'nigh ter be."

"Come out, Joe! Come on out!" a lone man in the rear called.

"Ye've waited five years for yer mail; reckon ye can wait till three o'clock," and click went the shutter right in the face of the nonplused mob.

Every second an hour, they stood. Waited when gold was in the very air about them. At last the shutter flew open with a snap and again the men sprang forward. "Where's the strike?" pleadingly. "Where's the strike, Joe?"

"Hold yer hosses an' get in line."

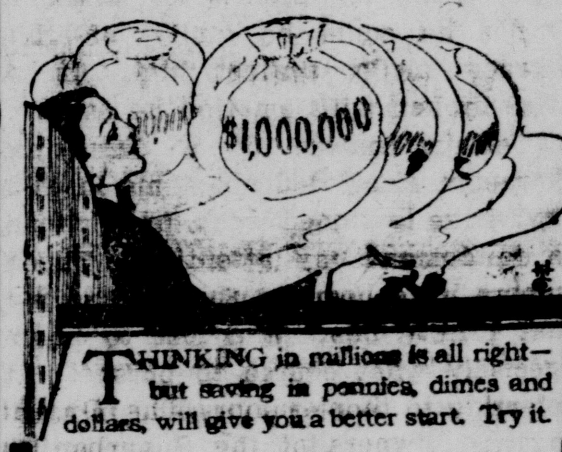

This man was trifling with them. Maybe he was lying about the strike after all. Pete sprang forward, an ugly look on his face.

"Joe, ye're all right, but we want ter know 'bout that strike. Wuz ye joshin' us?"

A threatening murmur at the very suggestion arose.

"Pete Browning, git in line, damn ye! Ye git in line now. I'm postmaster hyar, an' ye'll get yer mail fust er I'll know the reason why. They hain't 'nigh ter be no disorderly conduct in my postoffice 'cordin' to the rules and regulations er the United States er Ameriky. Git in line!"

Suddenly the mob aligned itself before the little window and again it stretched its serpentine length through the building, down the street clear to the foothills. Silently they received their mail or asked for it, and sulkily ignored his pleasantries.

Finally the last man was through and he emerged from his shelter.

"Naow, boys, come along. Postmaster tust, miner arter! Come along an' I'll show ye somethin' that'll—Hello! Hello, Slim! Hello, Jake! Come fer yer mail? No! Wa-al, ye'll git it!"

The procession slowly followed his chuckling lead down the grass-grown main street of the town of Milton out into the foothills.

All that day did Joe show them his strike and help them stake claims around him. Merrily he showed them assays he had taken of deserted claims that now looked extremely good.

But at night when the tired, glad men assembled in Danny Callahan's, the old man seemed to lose his gaiety. The eager throng, pressing about, could drag from him nothing save nonsyllables. Finally he looked up and said very softly, so that only those immediately around heard:

"Wa-al, boys, it's tough work for an ole man—this hyar minin'. Jes' let me watch ye, an' tend postoffice." A moment he paused at the door. "Don't ye reckon ye'd better sen' yer relief vaggin back ter Glade? If ye stays a little while, ye won't need it no more."

And as he slowly left the room, not a man but knew what he meant.

Man From Marshall Stabbed.

Chester Chamberlain, of Marshall, 23 years old, was dangerously stabbed by an unknown person in the vicinity of Main and Kentucky streets late last night.

The blade of the knife entered the back, below the right shoulder, and penetrated the lung.

Dr. W. J. Ferguson dressed the wound, which will not result fatally unless infection sets in.

Chamberlain is now confined to a room over a West Main street saloon, refusing to be moved, and also refusing to divulge the name of his assailant.

A MOTHER GIVES UP BABE

FATHER OF CHILD DECLARES HOME IS TOO SMALL TO SHELTER THREE.

TEARS SHED WHEN WOMAN TAKES IT

Foster Mother, Dressed in Black, Refuses to Give Name to Child's Real Mother in the World's Fair City.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.—The deep-seated, trusting love of a wife triumphed over the natural mother's affection for her offspring when Mrs. Alice Karwowska, Sunday, wrapped the form of her 4-months-old baby boy, Tony, in warm clothing and delivered him into the arms of a strange woman.

This woman, who was dressed in sombre black, refused to give the mother her name or address, and would not promise that Mrs. Karwowska would ever see the child again.

It was a bitter experience for the mother, who is 25 years old, but she explained that she had decided to give up the baby rather than lose the love of her husband.

Tony Karwowska, 1429 North Ninth street, is the father of the baby. From the hour of its birth, although it was named after him, he had a violent dislike for it, and as it lived and thrived, and was nursed by its mother, who showered her love on it, he became morose and declared to her that she loved the little one more than she did him. Then he declared that the single room in which they were living was too small for three, and because of the fact that he was a poor man and unable to provide a better home for either him or the infant would have to leave.

Mrs. Karwowska debated for a week, and then decided to part with the baby. An advertisement was inserted in a St. Louis paper, and Sunday little Tony was arrayed in his best frock and laid on a lounge to await results. There were numerous callers during the day, but while Tony had numerous admirers, no one wanted him on account of his age. None until the woman in black put in an appearance. She at once announced she would take the baby, and after Mrs. Karwowska had showered the little one with kisses and bathed its tiny face with her tears it was carefully wrapped up to prevent its catching cold in the wind and the woman in black departed.

Mrs. Karwowska was almost hysterical when the door was closed. It was hours before she could be at all comforted. Finally, she said that although she loved her baby and would gladly give up her life for it, she loved her husband, and if she could not have both she would cling to the man she married.

HEROISM OF TRAINED NURSES.
Fight Grimmeest of Battles with No Trumpet Sound to Encourage.

The trained nurse goes into battle encouraged by none of the blood-stirring incidents of the soldier. She is often entirely alone; her struggle must be quiet; and her antagonist is grim and terrible and ever watchful, because it is death itself. Suppose it is you yourself who are suddenly smitten in the midst of your life and work, says Anne O'Hagan in the Delineator. With the coming of the trained nurse you feel infinite relief from thanksgiving. You are no longer obliged to struggle alone, to watch the door alone lest that other one enter. The nurse, calmest of warriors, least grim of sentinels, sits beside your bed and will keep the vigil for you. You transfer the battle to her. For yourself, you will lie still and think—not of the combat before you, not of the turmoil behind you—that whirling, dusty conflict of the world which was so important a little while ago—but of the great, important things—earth and its greenness, the wide, white, country skies on moonlight nights, the flash of blue birds' wings in the September sunshine, all the daily miracles you had forgotten to watch when you were hurrying to those manifold appointments of yours. Now you are in the region where only "the mightiest movement sounds and passes, only winds and rivers, only life and death."

BALKS AT "THREE WEEKS"

No Production Until Play Is Revised, Says Hackett.

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—James K. Hackett may not play "Three Weeks" in Suburban garden. The production of "Three Weeks" at Suburban is now up to Elinor Glyn. The author of the piece is expected in St. Louis August 15.

Hackett, who has the exclusive right to produce the dramatized version of the book in America, is eager to put the play on. The Oppenheims, owners of the Suburban theater, are just as eager, and the public is interested, but until Mrs. Glyn arrives positive statement that "Three Weeks" will be seen in St. Louis this fall, or anywhere else, for that matter, is lacking.

This is due to the fact that the second and third acts of the play, as it stands at present, are a little too torrid for Mr. Hackett. Neither Hackett nor any other producer will attempt to put them before the public until changed.

MUCO-SOLVENT

FOR DIPHThERIA AND ALL KINDRED AILMENTS

THE terror which the mere mention of Diphtheria strikes to the average mind emphasizes the vast value of a remedy that really conquers this dread scourge—for scourge it is! Hundreds of homes have seen the sunshine of joy blotted out by the withering touch of Diphtheria. This is the only remedy for Diphtheria that you can get at any drug store at any time. It is the discovery of a physician who has not lost a case of Diphtheria in twenty years.

That a Diphtheria germ cannot live in Muco-Solvent was proven by tests successfully made with Muco-Solvent by an official bacteriologist to one of the College Agricultural Experiment Stations, conducted on behalf of the U. S. Government. This marvelous remedy is highly beneficial in the cure of Croup, Coughs, Colds and all ailments resulting from inflamed or irritated conditions of the membranous passages!

Scarlet Fever, Tonsillitis, Whooping Cough and all kindred ailments yield readily to the use of Muco-Solvent.

Your druggist can supply you with Muco-Solvent.

We cannot impress upon you too emphatically that Muco Solvent is in no sense an ordinary patent preparation, since its use is sanctioned by the shining lights of the ethical medical fraternity.

SHOT HIS MAIL ORDER WIFE

Then a Wyoming Judge Ended His Own Life Without Ceremony.

Cody, Wyo., Aug. 11.—Domestic difficulties, following a marriage arranged through a matrimonial agency, are assigned as the cause of a double killing in which Judge A. T. Swanson shot his wife, Rose Browning Swanson, as she lay sleeping, and then put a bullet through his own head.

The tragedy was enacted in Ishawoo, a remote mountain settlement near the boundary of the Yellowstone national forest.

Judge Swanson had resided in the Ishawoo section for thirteen years and was well liked and popular. He married a St. Louis woman two years ago after a courtship by correspondence. The pair did not live happily together and of late domestic difficulties had caused Swanson to drink heavily.

Evidently he brooded over his home troubles for weeks and deliberately made up his mind to murder his wife and then kill himself.

All the details of the crime were arranged in advance, even to the writing of a letter saying that the double killing was to take place and giving the reasons which prompted the double tragedy.

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherry bark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing by applying to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post. You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

LAUGHED AT BY BOTH WIVES

But Philippine War Hero Says He Is Not a Bigamist.

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—Walter J. Dougherty, Philippine war hero and former policeman, was sullen when he was laughed at today by Mrs. Elta Robinson Dougherty, aged 24, wife No. 1, and Mrs. Clara Heckel, aged 17, child wife No. 2, when they called at his cell in police station, where he was incarcerated on warrants issued charging him with bigamy.

Dougherty claims to have obtained a divorce from his first wife at Independence, Mo., after his alleged flight from here. Dougherty worked in Kansas City from the time he left here last March without resigning from the police force, until a few days ago, when he returned to his parents' home here. Dougherty says he will prove by a divorce granted early in June in Independence, Mo., that he is not a bigamist.

A copy of a Jackson county record obtained by the first wife shows such a divorce was granted. The fact that she was not served personally with a notice of the suit may invalidate it.

CUBAN MERCHANT WEDS HER

The Marriage of the Divorced Wife of Watterson's Son.

New York, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Blanca C. Watterson, who divorced Henry Watterson, jr., the son of Col. Henry Watterson, in 1905, was married in the city hall yesterday to Senor Ramon Banus. Alderman Beyer performed the ceremony in the aldermanic committee room.

To the clerk, R. E. Cully, who issued the license, Banus said that he was 28 years old, a merchant, and lived at 43 East Twenty-fifth street. Mrs. Watterson said she was 30 years old. She was born in Cuba and is the daughter of Juan J. Casanova, she said. She wrote in her spaces of the license application blank that she was divorced from the son of the Kentuckian in March, 1905. She obtained a decree in Louisville.

To the question as to whether or not her husband was living she wrote, "I do not know."

PLATES WORTH SMALL FORTUNE.

Have the Valuable Peculiarity of Constantly Growing.

"If you could eat your dinner off a service like this, now!" said a collector of porcelain, taking a strange, bright plate from a cabinet. "Why, such a service would be worth $100,000 or more."

The plate's surface was covered with an irregular and glittering crystalline growth a half-inch high. Beautiful crystals, in their graceful outline suggesting quaint pagodas and gnarled trees, rose up everywhere from the porcelain pattern.

"It is," said the collector, "a growing plate. It is one of those plates whose clay, containing aluminum and magnesium, causes an outgrowth of crystals under the enamel. Such plates are very rare. I paid $2,000 for this one."

"Only a half-dozen growing plates are known. One, that belongs to a Boston collector, is valued at $4,500. Another, that had belonged to a poor New York woman who attached no value to it, sold at auction in '91 for $3,700."

"It is interesting to have a growing plate in your collection. This specimen here has put forth three crystals under that little blue mountain design since it came into my hands."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

SLIDES FOR LIFE 4,000 FEET

Injured Man Is Shot Down Mountain by Rescuers.

Seattle, Aug. 11.—With his leg broken in two places, John Anderson, of Little Falls, Ore., was found on Mount St. Helena in Washington last Wednesday by a Seattle party of the Mazamas, a club of mountain climbers, who, to save his life, carried him to the summit of the mountain at imminent risk to themselves, and in an improvised stretcher made out of a sleeping bag, slid him down the north side of the great peak for 4,000 feet to the Mazamas camp, where medical attention was given him.

The injured man was shot down the mountain side at almost lightning speed, tied to his rescuers with ropes. Physicians say that had not this expedient been followed, Anderson would have died from his injuries.

SENT PACKAGES BY NEIGHBORS.

Custom of Early Days of New England Settlement.

In the early days of the settlement of New England the custom of sending packages by neighbors who journeyed to different parts of the country was an established one. The note book of Schoolmaster Joseph Hawley of Northampton, Mass., when he started on a trip to Boston, was filled with such varied items as: "Capt. Partridge, a dial and a fish kettle," "son, Joseph, speckled red ribbon, whistles, buckles and fish hooks," "a shilling worth of plumb and spice," "two psalters, a bason and a quart pot." In "Old Paths and Legends of the New England Border" Katherine M. Abbott says that it was the same even as late as Judge Lyman's day; his daughter, Mrs. Lesley, writes of it in "Recollections of My Mother":

There were no express men then, and so when it was known in the village of Northampton that Judge and Mrs. Lyman were going to Boston—and they always took pains to make it known—a throng of neighbors were coming in the whole evening before, not only to take an affectionate leave, but to bring parcels of every size and shape, and commissions of every variety.

One came with a dress she wanted to send to a daughter at school; one brought patterns of dry goods, with a request that Mrs. Lyman would purchase and bring home dresses for a family of five. And would she go to the orphan asylum and see if a good child of ten could be bound out to another neighbor? Would Mrs. Lyman bring the child back with her?

The neighbors walked into the library, where the packing was going on, and when all the family trunks were filled my father called out heartily: "Here, Hiram, bring down another trunk from the garret, the largest you can find, to hold all these parcels!"

A little boy came timidly in with a bundle nearly as large as himself, and "would this be too large for Mrs. Lyman to carry to grandmother?"

"No, indeed. Tell your mother I'll carry anything short of a cooking stove."

"Another trunk, Hiram," said my father, "and ask the driver to wait five minutes."

Those were the times when people could wait five minutes for a family so well known, and beloved. Our driver had only to whip up his horses a little faster.—Youth's Companion.

London Paupers.

In the whole history of the poor law system the figures for the indoor poor of the metropolis have never reached the point now touched by the last official returns. In the 40 work-houses of Greater London there were 89,183 boarders, and 45,821 people were receiving outdoor relief. This gives a rate of 26.5 paupers per 1,000 of population.—London News.

ALBERT METCALFE LURED TO MERAMEC HIGHLANDS AND ASSAULTED.

HAD WRITTEN OF LID VIOLATIONS

Reference to Herpel Made by One of Two Ruffians Who Ride on Car—Neither Is Recognized, but Can Identify Them.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 11.—Albert Metcalfe, a Post-Dispatch reporter who has been active in exposing the lawlessness at Creve Coeur lake and other notorious St. Louis county resorts, was lured to Meramec Highlands Monday and assaulted by two men, one of whom hit him repeatedly with a rock he held in his clenched fist.

"You won't get another chance at Herpel," Mr. Metcalfe says the man cried at the blow was struck.

Mr. Metcalfe is the Clayton representative of the Post-Dispatch. In that capacity he reports news from all parts of the county.

After making the rounds of his news points in Webster Groves Monday, Mr. Metcalfe was standing in front of the drug store in the Bristol building when someone called to him from a passing car, bound to Meramec Highlands.

"There's a woman doped out at Meramec Highlands," said the man. "Better get out there quick."

Mr. Metcalfe could not see who addressed him, but he jumped on the car.

Stepping off the car at the Highlands, Mr. Metcalfe was confronted by two men who had descended from it ahead of him. As the car moved away, the man who held the rock hit the reporter viciously on the mouth. Taken unawares, Mr. Metcalfe could not guard himself against the blow.

The other man joined in the assault. Mr. Metcalfe, half-tunned, fought back as best he could, and succeeded in wresting the stone from his assailant's hand.

The men fled. Metcalfe boarded a car and returned to the drug store in Webster Groves, where his injuries were treated by a druggist. One tooth was broken off, and Metcalfe's face was bruised and cut.

Metcalfe said after the assault he was satisfied it was prompted by revenge on account of his work in reporting lawlessness in the county. He did not recognize either of his assailants, but would know them, he says, if he saw either of them again.

ANOTHER PRISON FOR HIM

Convict Completes One Term to Serve an Unexpired One.

Jefferson City, Aug. 11.—John Lester, who will be discharged from the penitentiary Thursday, at the expiration of a two years' sentence for fraud committed in Greene county, will be arrested at the gate on his discharge by the parole officer of the Chester, Ill., state prison and taken back to that institution to serve out a sentence that he evaded by taking French leave after being paroled.

He was sentenced in Illinois for a confidence game and uttering fictitious checks. He was tried and convicted at Quincy and had about two and one-half years of his time to serve when he violated his parole. He had only been in Greene county a few weeks when he perpetrated the fraud that landed him in the Missouri prison.

PASTOR GIVEN A BEATING

THE REV. STEPHEN B. SHIPMAN IS IN TROUBLE OF A VERY SERIOUS NATURE.

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE IN HIS ROOM

Declares Mrs. Carew Was Going Away From Him When Husband Appeared—The Minister Makes a Statement.

Harlock, Md., Aug. 11.—With the plea of Adam—"The woman tempted me"—the Rev. Stephen B. Shipman, pastor of Washington avenue M. E. church, explains the beating he was given by Thomas Carew when Carew found his wife in the clergyman's room.

But the Rev. Mr. Shipman deviates from Adam's story when he avers that he resisted the woman and was in the act of driving her from the room when the husband appeared.

After the beating, the minister says, being warned that Carew was likely to return and kill him, he spent the night in a cornfield, the mosquitoes for company.

Following is the story he will tell when Carew sues for divorce, and when he sues Carew for damages for assault:

"I went to the home of Nathan Todd, Mrs. Carew's father, about 3 o'clock in the evening, and when I retired was given a room usually occupied by Carew.

"After I had fallen asleep I was aroused by a hand on my face and was surprised to find Mr. Carew's wife sitting beside me. I at once protested and insisted on her leaving the room. She said: 'Oh, won't you love me; won't you pray for me.'"

"I insisted, quietly that she go to avoid making a scene. She arose, and, in leaving the room, ran into the arms of her husband, who had lit a match. The match was extinguished in the scuffle.

"Grabbing my shoes and a small grip, I started for the door, when he attacked me, grabbing my throat and nearly choking me to death. Finally I fled by the front door. He followed with a large club, beating me unmercifully. His wife and mother followed, screaming to him not to kill me.

"For a quarter of a mile he kept this up till we reached the home of a neighboring rector. The clothing I had on was torn to shreds.

"After I had been attended and put to bed in Dr. Windsor's house, Matt Carew, brother of Thomas Carew, came and told me he was afraid his brother would return and kill me.

John Wesley.

THE famous founder of Methodism was pre-eminently a man of heroic and humanitarian ideals, whose personal piety, beneficence and high moral teachings deserve the approbation of all good men.

In one of his sermons he declares: "Without bread and wine the strongest bodies decay... bread and wine keep up our natural life"; and again when criticizing a book, published by Dr. Cado-gan, he praises the use of fermented liquor as "one of the noblest cordials of nature."

In a pamphlet entitled "Primitive Physic" he advises his followers as follows: "Drink water only when it agrees with your stomach, if not good small beer."

During his lifetime he traveled into every corner of the British Islands, crossed the ocean to America, preached 40,000 sermons and drank good malt beer and wine, from youth to old age, dying at over 80, a marvel of noble fortitude, physical endurance and mental power.

SLIM PASSENGER A SKEPTIC.

Story of Wonderful Surgical Operation Received with Doubt.

It happened on a Pullman car between New York and Chicago. Dinner having been finished, the gentlemen assembled in the smoking-room to enjoy their cigars. "During the time I was in the war," said the quiet man, "I saw a wonderful thing in the line of surgical operations. A friend of mine was shot through the right breast, the bullet passing clear through him. The presence of mind of his companion undoubtedly saved his life. He wrapped his handkerchief around the ramrod of his gun, and, pushing it through the path made by the bullet, cleared the wound of all poisonous lead. I know it is hard to believe, but, gentlemen, the man still lives to tell the tale." "Which man?" inquired the slim passenger and the other seat, quietly. "The undied one, of course," exclaimed the old soldier, scornfully. "Oh, I beg your pardon; I thought it might be the other."

OTHER THINGS AS WELL AS MEATS AT WALCH'S CAFE

A fair part of the success of this restaurant can be traced to a list of good things to eat (aside from meats), which you would not include under the head of "Restaurant Dishes"—dishes which, while not fancy, must be prepared just so. Meats are comparatively few in variety, and however their taste may be varied by excellence of cooking, there are times when all meats pall upon the appetite.

Then you need a change of diet which our supper list tonight or any night will suggest.

STREAK OF LUCK FOR AUNTIE.

Emolument and Honor in Matrimonial Alliance.

Old Auntie Mandy, who did the washing, was such a happy, brave old soul that although she worked very hard early and late and must often have been weary, nothing could depress her. In everything that occurred she saw only "good luck" for herself. One day she brought home the washing in a high state of glee.

"Yes, think, Miss Arnold," she said, "I's goin' ter git married! Isn't dat jes' fine luck fo' poor ole black woman like me?"

"I shall be very sorry to lose you, Mandy," said Mrs. Arnold, "but I'm glad if your life will be easier."

"Lose me!" gasped Mandy. "Lor! Miss Arnold, I can't afford to let you lose me jes' now. Why, I's goin' ter marry Br'er Johnson an' his five children. I's got to hustle now, for sartin."

"But I fail to see where your good luck is coming in from such a marriage, Mandy."

BUYING THEM A LITTLE DRINK.

City Official Hadn't Consulted the Tastes of His Clerks.

Some time ago, E. W. Bemis, superintendent of the city water works, asked two clerks in another city department to make some computations for him. They worked late and finished the figures to Mr. Bemis' entire satisfaction.

"That's very kind of you, boys," he told them. "I guess I will have to buy you a little drink."

They didn't mind. So the three sallied forth from the city hall. Mr. Bemis led the way down Superior avenue. When he passed some of the drink dispensaries without casting as much as a glance in their direction the two clerks began to wonder.

"He must be going to take us to the club," whispered one to the other.

At last they entered a bedizen spot at a street intersection. Walking up to the rail, Mr. Bemis spoke to the white-aproned attendant.

"Make us three nice sodas," he said. "What flavor will you have, boys?" He turned to hear their answer. He got none. They were not there.

"Well, what do you know about that?" said the other to one a few minutes later when the barkeep was "drawing twos." One didn't know.—Cleveland Leader.

KEEP TAB ON SPELL BINDERS

Hitchcock Will "Keep Cases" on His Army of Speakers.

New York, Aug. 11.—Elaborate plans have been perfected by Frank H. Hitchcock, republican national chairman, whereby he will know the weak and strong points of every "spellbinder" employed by the national committee. The orators are to be card indexed and included in the system which Mr. Hitchcock, aided by William Hayward, of Nebraska, is putting into effect.

Mr. Hitchcock will know within a week or two after the spellbinders' brigade is turned loose on the country, just which ones are worth keeping; which can speak best on the tariff, on the injunction plank, and on all the other issues, and, in fact, will know which appeal most strongly to the workman and which "take well" with a high-class audience.

The change in fare will continue until the prepaid car system is in force all over the city.

A TRIBE OF FIGHTING INDIANS.

Aborigines of Central America Seemingly Without Fear.

"I sojourned for more than a year in Central America, mostly in Honduras, where I went to make a study of the native Indian tribes," said Charles C. Lesseuer of New Orleans.

"These aborigines are mostly of warlike mold and as brave fighters as any of the human race. I was especially impressed with the inhabitants of the Copan and Gracias districts. They are the best fighting stock in all Latin America. Three or four hundred of them will often defeat an army of twice their size. They are ever eager for battle and reck nothing of heavy adverse odds. They are supposed to be Christians, but from what I saw and learned of others I came to the belief that they practice heathen rites and ceremonies. They are excellent friends, but terrible enemies, and if defeated in battle are apt to visit their wrath on their unfortunate officers."

"These Indians cling to their primitive customs and do most of their hunting with bows and arrows. The way they use the bow is rather unique. They sight their game, calculate the distance and then shoot their arrows into the air, whereupon the weapon falls upon the mark, whether bird or beast, seven times out of ten, with fatal effect."—Baltimore American.

Reported That He Had Gone to Alaska, But the Authorities Investigated and Learned to the Contrary.

Coffeyville, Kas., Aug. 11.—After a four months' search, Harry Coleman, who helped Bill Tennant rob the Chautauqua bank of $3,000 on the morning of April 17, has been captured in the state of Washington.

Sheriff Ricketts, of Chautauqua county, received word yesterday of the capture, and departed last evening to bring back the prisoner. When Bill Tennant, the other member of the raiding gang, was captured June 1, at Denver, he told the officers here that his accomplice was Harry Coleman.

He said after they had held up the cashier and got the $3,000 in the safe and locked the banker in the vault, they rode to Denver on horseback. Later Tennant denied the story, and said they boarded a train at Caney, Kas., and rode together to Kansas City. At that place they parted company, he going to Denver and his partner to Washington.

The police would not believe the story, but Sheriff Ricketts investigated it.

Tennant stuck to this story so closely that the county official was finally convinced. At first it was reported that Coleman had gone to Alaska, but this story was denied.

Coleman is not known in this part of the country. Tennant was reared near where the robbery took place, and was recognized by the cashier the morning he ordered that official to hand over the money.

Tennant is now in the Chautauqua county jail awaiting trial in the district court. He is only 19 years old, and his accomplice is said to be only two or three years older. Tennant was betrayed to the Denver officers by a man who was in love with the same girl as Tennant, and from whom Tennant had won her.

Charge Missourian With Passing Bogus Bank Notes.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 11.—Will Smith, son of a wealthy retired farmer, was brought here last night from Marionville, Lawrence county, by United States Deputy Marshal Mead and arraigned before Commissioner Pepperdine on a charge of circulating bogus national bank notes.

Smith is charged by the federal officers of being an accomplice of W. C. Guild, the Marionville photographer who was arrested some time ago on a charge of making and passing counterfeit notes. Guild, who had over $1,000 in bogus bills when arrested, is in jail at Carthage, awaiting trial in the federal court at Joplin.

Smith denies that he circulated any of the bills. He was arrested at the instance of secret service agents who have been working on the Guild case for several months. He will have a hearing today.

WILL TRY TO BEAT DICKEY

Not Forgotten Congressional Committee Troubles.

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—Walter S. Dickey is a candidate for re-election as chairman of the republican state committee. He has opened up commodious headquarters in the Holland building here, and the work of organization has begun in serious fashion.

In St. Louis it is practically certain that Dickey will be opposed by Jephtha D. Howe, chairman of the republican city committee, and former National Committeeman Thomas J. Akins.

Opposition to Dickey here has grown out of the action of the state committee in deposing the Eleventh and Twelfth congressional committees of St. Louis, and taking charge of the election of delegates to the national convention from those two districts.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WITH MONEY.

One Pupil in New York Acted as the Family Bank.

"Where do school children get all the money they take to school?" was asked a New York teacher who was worrying over the frequent thefts from the pupils in her room.

"I don't know," she said. "The situation is puzzling. It is a fact that almost every child brings money to school. Many of them have only a cent to buy a doughnut or a stick of candy, but others carry surprisingly large sums. Not long ago the charges of theft were so frequent in my room that I tried to stop this universal carrying of money. I asked the mothers not to give their children money during school hours, except in cases where it was really needed to buy luncheon. Many of them promised to cut off the allowance, but the small coins continued to circulate just the same. A few mothers declared that they gave the children money for safe keeping. I learned that one girl in my class came to school day after day with from $20 to $30 pinned in her clothes. The father spent everything he could lay his hands on, and as the little girl's garments were the only place where he could never find the money she was converted into the family bank."

The plan seemed to work, so far as the spendthrift father was concerned, but it worried the teacher.

CONDUCTORS ARE ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF CARRYING PASSENGERS FREE.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

George P. Sommers, a conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, has been arrested at Baltimore by United States Deputy Marshal Zimmerman on the charge of violating an act of congress by carrying a passenger free of charge on his train. He was released on $1,000 bail for a hearing before United States Commissioner Rogers.

The warrant, which charges the conductor with carrying Charles Flinder free from Baltimore to Martinsburg, was sworn out by Charles H. Pommarrat, auditor of the passenger receipts of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The action follows the arrest of William T. Frederick and Hugh C. Pierce, also conductors of the railroad who were arrested on the charge of carrying Charles Flinder on their trains without charge. In each case the conductors deny all knowledge of knowing a man by the name of Flinder, and say that they are innocent of the accusation.

HERE'S A REAL MAIL MYSTERY

A Missing Pouch Found on the Roof of a Fast Train.

Monday was a blue day at the Princeton, Mo., Aug. 11.—East Station postoffice, likewise at the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific depot.

For more than twenty-four hours all believed that a mail pouch had been stolen from a mail crane about 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Last Friday night the mail was taken to the depot by the messenger at the usual time.

The operator, W. S. Cate, hung the catcher pouch on the crane. Within two minutes following the passing of this train the operator went out to get the mail left by the train for this office. He saw that the pouch had been caught by the mail clerk, gathered up the mail and placed it in the depot.

The following morning the postmaster brought him notice from the railway mail clerk that no pouch had been caught from this station Saturday morning. The clerk did not get it, the operator did not have it and it was not at the postoffice. Someone evidently had stolen the pouch.

The postmaster received a letter from the railway mail clerk this afternoon which cleared up the mystery. The mail clerk says that after the train reached Mercer he saw an iron rod extending over the side of the engine and supposed this had knocked the mail from the crane. He thought no more about it until the train reached Washington, Ia., 45 miles from Princeton, when the man, while taking water, saw the pouch lying on top of the mail car and handed it down to the clerk. How the pouch came to be on top of the car or how it happened to ride there for that distance at the speed that his train travels has not been explained.

FOR A FRISCO EXPLOSION

Chicago Police Arrested Man Wanted for Throwing a Bomb.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Peter Claudianes, who had been sought by the authorities of San Francisco because of his alleged complicity in the throwing of several bombs there, was arrested here yesterday at the instigation of a detective from District Attorney Langdon's office.

The capture was effected by means of a decoy letter sent by the San Francisco police and received by Claudianes a moment before his arrest in the postoffice.

The prisoner's brother, John, is said to have been arrested several weeks ago in San Francisco and to have confessed to placing a bomb in the residence of James Gallagher, ex-supervisor, in Oakland, Cal. Seven persons were injured by the resulting explosion.

The explosion was one of a series which is said to have had its inception in a "gamblers' war."

Only one passenger, P. F. Sarver, of Sidney, O., escaped injury.

Twenty-five automobiles from Piqua and Sidney were rushed to the scene of the accident and conveyed the injured to a quickly improvised hospital at the Shelby county infirmary and their homes in that and this city.

The cause of the wreck is thought to be a misunderstanding of orders. The north-bound car out of Piqua was running on time, while the south-bound car out of Sidney was late and running at great speed. The cars met almost in front of the Shelby county infirmary, to which the dead and injured were conveyed.

The dead:
ENGINEER HAMILTON.
FIREMAN BROADWELL.
W. E. MOORE, a passenger; supposed to be from Georgia.

The train left Goldfield Sunday afternoon. Shoshone is in a desert country, where rains are rarely known, but cloudbursts occur at intervals. It is six miles north of Seabaska and twenty-five miles south of the Death Valley Junction.

Shortly before the train arrived at Shoshone a cloudburst occurred, washing out over 100 feet of track. The train dashed into the cut without warning, the engine turned over and the baggage and chair cars on their sides, but the sleeping car remained on the track.

Engineer Hamilton and Fireman Broadwell were both killed and a passenger in the chair car succumbed to his injuries. Details of the wreck are very meager.

FATHER IN AUTO CAPTURES AN ILLINOIS COUPLE IN COLORADO.

CRAVED LIFE IN REAL WILD WEST

Promise to Accompany Parent Back to Virden Home After Sight-seeing Tour, if They Do Not Change Their Mind.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 11.—Eloping from her home in Virden, Ill., 19-year-old Ethel Thornberg Campbell came to Denver with her husband, Clarence L. Campbell, whom she married in Chicago, and the two registered at the Albany, after which they rented an automobile and started Sunday for Cheyenne. The girl was determined to live on a western ranch.

The father, Joseph T. Thornberg, a wealthy resident of Virden, decided to stop the whole affair if he could and he followed the daughter.

He got another machine and chauffeur, pursued what he called the "foolish bride and bridegroom" and overtook them at Dover, Colo.

The daughter listened to him and the entire party returned to Denver. They left Sunday night for Colorado Springs and Manitou, the father telling the pair he would take them on a tour of the mountains if they would be sensible enough to return to the Illinois home.

Campbell is an employee of an electric railroad company in Illinois.

WILL TOUR EVERY STATE

Mr. E. W. Chafin, Prohibition Candidate for President.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 11.—Eugene W. Chafin, prohibition candidate for president, declares that before the November battle of ballots he will tour every state of the Union, and that he confidently expects to get the largest vote that any candidate of his party has ever received.

Mr. Chafin is a citizen of Illinois, but was born in Walworth county, Wisconsin, November 1, 1852.

He worked on a farm by the month to defray his expenses while at the University of Wisconsin, from which he was graduated in 1875. He practiced law in Waukesha, Wis., for twenty-five years. He was state president of the Epworth League two terms and grand chief templar of the state Good Templars four terms, a candidate on the prohibition ticket for attorney general of Wisconsin twice and for governor in 1898. In 1901 he went to Chicago. He is the author of "Lives of the Presidents" and "Lincoln, the Man or Sorrows."

ACTRESS PAYS $20,000

FOR HER HONEYMOON, AND NOW HER HUSBAND IS IN CUSTODY OF OFFICERS.

IS CLAIMED HE HAS ANOTHER WIFE

Vida Whitmore, a Chorus Girl, Gave Jewels Worth the Sum Stated to Mandeville Hall, and Now She Regrets It.

New York, Aug. 11.—Mandeville de Marigny Hall will be prosecuted for bigamy unless the two women he married change their minds. Just now he is a prisoner in London, charged with negotiating bogus checks. Should he get out of that trouble he may be extradited on the charge of bigamy. He may also have to face the charge of grand larceny made by his second wife.

She was formerly a chorus girl in Joe Weber's company and her name is Vida Whitmore. When she returned from London ten days ago and said she was Hall's wife her statement was denied by Hall, who had been arrested just before she left London.

Later Hall changed his mind and in a cablegram to the World he said that Vida Whitmore was his wife, but he made no explanation of how he was freed from his first wife. Her attorneys are preparing papers for a suit for divorce.

Hall's admission regarding Miss Whitmore was hardly necessary, for she has a certificate showing that she was married May 21 in Jersey City by the Rev. S. J. Arthur of the North Baptist church. There was no secret about the marriage, each of the contracting parties giving their right names.

Hall, according to Vida Whitmore, is a cousin of the Abruzzi and a blood relative of the Marquis de Marigny, after whom he is named.

"Well, when we had agreed to be married he told me that he was divorced, and I believed him, of course. He never showed me any papers. I just took him at his word. He said that it would take two or three days to get a license in New York and suggested that we go over to Jersey City, So. on Thursday afternoon, May 21, we took a carriage and crossed the Hudson and were married.

"We returned to New York and the next day started for Chicago, where we stopped at the Auditorium annex. From there we went to St. Louis and put up at the Planters' hotel. Mr. Hall was apparently very busy. He had interviews with a number of men about terra cotta, and I supposed he was doing a rushing business. He pawned a good many of my jewels in the west.

"When we came east again he suggested that I dispose of everything in this apartment, that we wouldn't need the furnishings as we were going to Europe. I had some of my jewels in a safe I had in one of the rooms. He knew the combination. All my jewels were gone when I opened the box.

"On June 4 we took passage on the America and went to Paris, stopping at the Maurice.

"From Paris we went to London, where he said he was waiting for his auto car to be shipped from America. He never owned even the wheels of an auto, except in his head. He actually got out a license and made such an impression he had no trouble in buying a car with the bad check which has landed him where he is now.

"We toured the continent, and the way he promised what he was going to do was a caution. He let me get frightfully in debt in Paris. Everybody believed him to be a rich American and credit was easy to obtain. We went to London and had arranged to go to the Marathon races, but they pinched him on the Strand before we got started.

"At a conservative estimate, I should say that the value of the precious stones turned over to Mr. Hall, with the distinct understanding as to their disposal, was $18,000 to $20,000. I do not know how much he raised on them in the pawnshops, but I should say $6,000 or $7,000. He lodged the greater part of the jewels in New York, but he got an advance on one piece in Edinburgh. The money went as fast as he got it. He was reduced to £9 sterling ($45) when I left England.

"It would take a book to tell all the low, mean things that man did. His deception as to his former marriage and divorce was deliberate. He asserted positively that he had been divorced in New York three weeks before our marriage in Jersey City."

COWHERD TO REPLY TODAY

Refuses to Discuss Ball's Challenge for Fraud Probe.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 11.—William S. Cowherd will issue this evening an answer to Dave Ball's open letter, written from St. Louis on Saturday, inviting Mr. Cowherd to come to St. Louis to investigate alleged election frauds.

"I just received Mr. Ball's letter a few minutes ago," said Mr. Cowherd over the long-distance telephone from his farm near Lee's Summit last night. "I'm just going to bed, and will not read it carefully until tomorrow morning, when I will come to Kansas City and decide what I'll do about the matter. I haven't read the papers for several days and do not know anything about the situation or what it will be best for me to do. It is too late now to get to St. Louis at the time Mr. Ball asked me to."

"Are you willing to go to St. Louis, as Mr. Ball asks?"

"I can't say. I haven't read the letter carefully. I'll answer it publicly tomorrow. We go to bed early out here, and I'm not going to stay up late when I can settle the matter tomorrow morning just as well."

HAD SEEN HER BEFORE

Memory Was Ead and Did Not Know Just When or Where.

A preacher's wife, a doctor's wife and a traveling man's wife met one day recently and were talking about the forgetfulness of their husbands. The minister's wife thought her husband the most forgetful man living, because he would go to church and forget his notes and no one could make out what he was trying to preach about.

The doctor's wife thought her husband was more forgetful still, for he would often start out to see a patient and forget his medicine case, and travel nine miles for nothing.

"Well," said the traveling man's wife, "my husband beats that. He came home the other day and patted me on the cheek and said, 'Hello, girlie, I believe I've seen you before; what is your name?'"

Mrs. T. B. Young, of 714 East Fourth St., Sedalia, Mo., says: "I can simply state that I owe my thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills on account of the relief I obtained from their use. For two or three years I suffered from dull aching and lameness in my back, extending at times clear to the top of my head, and often, after stooping, when I straightened up there would be a swimming in my head and a blurring of the eyesight so severe that I could hardly stand. Doan's Kidney Pills procured at the W. E. Bard Drug Co. have given me greater relief from these troubles than any other medicine I ever used. It is a pleasure to recommend to others a remedy which proved of such great merit as yours did in my case."

Cherries all gone. No use to tear your pants climbing through the barb fence until the pears are ripe.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 11.—C. W. Bethel, ranch and orchard owner in Lincoln county, Washington, west of Spokane, has signs with the foregoing words along the fence of his cherry orchard.

Mr. Bethel had been troubled by boys and men climbing into the trees and breaking off the limbs in their anxiety to get the cherries. The signs are his way of keeping them out. On being asked by a minister why he chose that way instead of appealing to the usual methods used in such case, the ranch owner said:

"Well, I remember that when I was a boy I stole cherries, and wouldn't have liked for any one to have had me arrested. I never destroyed anything, and now I don't care so much for the cherries as I do for having the trees broken down."

What Becomes of Them.

Philosophers arise upon all sides—peasants, ecclesiastics, stoics, pythagoreans, epicureans, positivists, empiricists and intuitionists. They arise and flap their shimmering wings and they fade into inert innocuousness. The tidal wave of time—clammy, cruel and inevitable—surges o'er their forgotten biers. Their souls are absorbed in the thin ether of the illimitable cosmos. They speak their little pieces, dodge the ever-hurling egg, and then shut up forever. Alas!

APPLE PROSPECTS GOOD

This Is the Report of Growers Now in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—That the prospects are good for a bumper crop of apples in most sections where the fruit is grown is the joyful news brought by the delegates to the sixth American Apple Growers' congress, which convened today at the Southern hotel.

Papers on all phases of the apple business will be read during the sessions by the members of the congress, including commercial orchardists, commission men, exporters, entomological experts of the agricultural departments of the nation and the various states, and professors of horticulture at many colleges and experiment stations.

One of the interesting subjects slated for discussion is the effect of the pure food law on the interstate shipping of off-grade apples. Other papers will deal with spraying, pruning, legislation affecting orchards, shipping apples to market in bulk, exporting apples and selling fruit from grower to consumer.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

When the blood is pure and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth, and free from all blemishes and eruptions; but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation, its presence is quickly manifested by some form of skin disease. The skin receives its necessary nourishment and strength from the blood. When, however, this vital fluid becomes a humor-laden stream, it can no longer preserve the healthy, natural appearance of the skin but by its acid, impure nature continually irritates and inflames the delicate tissues and fibres and keeps the cuticle in a diseased and disfigured condition. External applications cannot reach the blood, and therefore are beneficial only for their ability to reduce inflammation, and assist in keeping the parts clean. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be purified of the humors that are causing the trouble. S. S. S. drives out the humors from the blood so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a healthy, cooling stream. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and restores every particle of impure matter, all acids and humors, and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby curing every form of skin disease or affection. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.

CONVENTIONS IN TEXAS

DEMOCRATS MEETING IN SAN ANTONIO AND REPUBLICANS IN DALLAS.

THE PROHIBITION ISSUE BOBS UP

Governor T. M. Campbell Will Be Renominated, He Having Received a Big Majority at the Recent Primary.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 11.—Both the democrats and republicans of Texas will hold conventions today, the former meeting in San Antonio and the latter in Dallas.

The San Antonio convention promises to be highly interesting, owing to the attempt that will probably be made to inject the prohibition issue into the deliberations. The recent primary, in which the question of a state-wide prohibition election was an issue, was not decisive.

Owing to divergent interpretations of the law governing the primary, both the "wets" and the "drys" claim a victory. Governor T. M. Campbell will be renominated, having received an overwhelming majority in the primary.

Owing to the prohibition fight and the friction between the adherents and opponents of Senator Bailey, the republicans are claiming a possibility of victory in the election this fall, and the convention in Dallas will likely be the most exciting in the history of the party in Texas.

The remnants of the populist party in Texas are holding a convention in Fort Worth today to select an electoral ticket.

OFFICIAL RETURNS SLOW

Thirty Counties, Including Pettis, Have Not Yet Reported.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 11.—Probably today, though it is by no means certain, Secretary of State Swanger will begin counting up the official returns of Tuesday's primary election. No returns can be opened until all have been received, and last night thirty counties and the city of St. Louis had not been heard from.

Eighty counties have sent in returns, but these will remain intact, in registered packages, just as received, until the other counties are heard from.

One or two somewhat amusing errors have been made in sending in the vote, the returns from New Madrid county being sent to the auditor instead of to the secretary of state, while Maries county sent the poll books used at the primary election, but later followed them with the proper package.

The city of St. Louis and the following counties are still out: Carter, Clark, Dade, Greene, Iron, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Lawrence, Madison, Mercer, Miller, Monroe, Morgan, Ozark, Pettis, Perry, Polk, Putnam, Ripley, St. Francois, Scotland, Shannon, Shelby, Stoddard, Sullivan, Taney, Texas, Washington and Wright.

A tickling or dry cough can be quickly loosened with Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. No opium, no chloroform, nothing unsafe or harsh. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug store.

THE ELKS DONATED IT

Sterilizer Installed in Jefferson City Hospital.

The local lodge of Elks is composed of big-hearted generous business men of this city and surrounding country, says the Jefferson City Post. On various occasions they have demonstrated ability in meeting emergencies confronting various institutions and individuals.

Their latest response is to an emergency that existed at St. Mary's hospital. A sterilizer in the operating room is an indispensable adjunct, and the good Sisters there undertook to solicit funds with which to relieve the needs of the institution.

The Elks were brought to a knowledge of affairs and immediately got together and donated the amount needed for the purchase of the instrument. It is a good one and cost $100. It will be in service at an early date.

To Banish the Goat.
Malta's celebrated goats are likely to be only a memory on the historic island, for it has been found that banishing goats' milk means an end to the ravages of Malta fever. The commission appointed in 1907 to trace the origin of the fever in the garrisons and crews of warships made the discovery that the germ of the fever was present in the milk of the goat. Wherever the use of this milk has been prohibited the fever has disappeared.
